

Neal's Martin Wine Journal
Mar 2014

2010 Haut Bergey 93

Tasted blind at the Southwold Bordeaux 2010 tasting. The Haut-Bergey 2010 has a very concentrated bouquet with dense blackberry, briary, crushed stone and tobacco on the nose that unfolds in the glass. The palate is medium-bodied with chewy tannins on the entry. There is a lot of extraction here, but it is in tune with the acidity and the structured finish has plenty of vibrant red fruit and energy to see it through to the long term. Tasted January 2014.

The Wine Advocate
by Robert Parker - Issue 205 - Feb 2013

2010 Haut Bergey 92

From Helene Garcin, this blend of 70% Cabernet Sauvignon and 30% Merlot displays classic tobacco leaf and smoky barbecue notes along with rich black currants and crushed rocks in a medium to full-bodied, seductive, attractively up-front style. Some Asian plum sauce is also noticeable in this complex, evolved and delicious wine, which can be drunk over the next 10-15 years. It is a sleeper of the vintage.

Wine Spectator
James Molesworth
Issue March 31, 2013

CHÂTEAU HAUT-BERGEY

Pessac-Léognan 2010 - Score: 92

Offers lush fruit, with dark raspberry and boysenberry notes, good, graphite-laced structure and bright acidity weaving throughout. The long, smoldering finish features an appealing licorice snap and violet profile. Best from 2015 through 2025

WINE JOURNAL BORDEAUX 2010
NEAL MARTIN
Tasted November 2012

2010 Chateau Haut-Bergey 92

Tasted at the Chateau Barde Haut in Saint Emilion. The 2010 is a blend of 60% Cabernet Sauvignon and 40% Merlot with around 40 to 45% new oak. The nose is mild-mannered, nicely defined, polite Pessac you might say, with well-behaved blackberry, raspberry and cedar aromas that blossom in the glass. The palate is medium-bodied with fine tannins. It is very classic in style, very well balanced with a fresh and very focused finish. One of the most elegant Haut-Bergey wines to date.

THE WINE ADVOCATE
Robert Parker - Issue 194 - May 2011

2010 Haut Bergey 92-94

2010: This estate is well-worth following given the fact that is always a realistic value and in most top vintages an over-achiever as well. Owned by the Garcin family, the 2010 Haut-Bergey (from a vineyard near Haut-Bailly) is composed of 70% Cabernet Sauvignon and 30% Merlot (unusual for this area). Possessing a deep ruby/purple hue as well as notes of creosote, charcoal, tobacco leaf, black currants and cherries, this sleeper of the vintage is opulent and luscious with a multilayered texture. Surprisingly forward with excellent freshness and depth, no hard edges, and a heady finish, it can be enjoyed over the next 10-12 years

THE WINE JOURNAL

Neal Martin – April 2011

2010 Château Haut-Bergey 92-94

A blend of 65% and 70% Merlot, the Haut-Bergey 2010 has a very attractive bouquet, very pure with blackberry sorbet, raspberry and wild strawberry. Good definition. The palate is full-bodied with a svelte, silky smooth texture, good acidity, very harmonious with admirable purity. Caressing on the finish. I think that this has great potential.

WineSpectator.com

James Molesworth

Posted: March 31, 2011 - Updated: April 1, 2011

2010 Top-Scoring Red Bordeaux

CHÂTEAU HAUT-BERGEY Pessac-Léognan 2010 Score: 92-95

Seriously ripe, with dense, succulent plum and black currant fruit paste notes, laced with extra spice, anise and tar.

This has great drive and cut, and is still a bit compact. Seems set for the longer haul. A seriously good showing for this estate.

Stephen Tanzer's International Wine Cellar

By Ian D'Agata - May/June '11

2010 Chateau Haut Bergey Pessac Leognan 88-90 points

Dark ruby. Fragrant floral aromas of red cherry and raspberry jam complicated by balsamic vinegar and vanillin oak.

Bright and fresh on entry, with flavors of cassis and cocoa lifted by violet, then impressive and long on the finish, with mounting tannins. A very rich, thick wine from Haut-Bergey that will need time in the cellar to shed its oaky veneer.

DECANTER.COM

By James Lawther MW

Chateau Haut-Bergey, Pessac-Leognan 2010

Rich tobacco leaf cassis nose, good depth of fruit, a certain greenness that needs to blend out, but good medium term. Drink 2014-20. (15.5 points)

QUARIN.COM

JM QUARIN - Quatorzième et dernier rapport (2 mai 2011)

2010 : Bilan de la campagne primeur
LES BORDEAUX 2010 EN PRIMEUR

Tableau des meilleurs vins

Très bons vins 15,25-16,25

Haut Bergey blanc, Haut Bergey rouge.

JAMESSUCKLING.COM

March 30th, 2011

2010 Bordeaux Barrel Tasting

CHATEAU HAUT-BERGEY PESSAC-LEOGNAN SCORE 92-93

This is a wine that shows lots of chocolate, tobacco and currants. Full body, with velvety tannins and a long finish. All there.